TOTAL CAPACITY 1,000 GALLONS

Eleven Barrels of Mash Found in Marsh

ARRESTS LACKING

Officers Lie in Wait For Moonshiners

Shortly after daybreak today five stills with a total capacity of more than 1,000 gallons were confiscated by a party of officers under Constable H. F. Baker three miles out on Alligator Bayou.

Baker accompanied by Deputy Bennett left Port Arthur about 3 o'clock this morning and circled through the marshes where they lay in wait for suspected bootleggers to put in their appearance, but not one showed up.

Five stills captured were within a radius of a half mile of one another back up the bayou, from the Texas Company's tank farm.

According to Baker the place where the stills were captured plainly showed signs of having been in use for some time, a small dumping ground having been piled up in the marsh out of the mesh which had been run through the stills. Empty cans showing the bootleggers had camped there for long periods were in evidence about the places where the stills were captured.

The five stills confiscated in today's early morning raids bring the total of Baker's up to 11 since he took off last August.

In addition to the stills captured 11 barrels of mash were destroyed and about a gallon of white whisky confiscated.

The stills were brought to the city jail where they will be sold for junk sometime soon.

JITNEYS FAIL AT MARIETTA, O.

Heavy Bus Does Not Meet Final Test

NOTE—This is the sixth of a series of articles describing conditions brought about in American cities through throwing their streets open to jitney service in competition with street car service or as a substitute for street car service. Preceding articles dealt with failures in Akron, Ohio; Saginaw, Mich.; Des Moines, Iowa; Toledo, Ohio, and Bridgeport, Conn.

Special to The News.

MARIETTA, Ohio, April 4.—An experiment in bus operation in a small city recently was finished in Marietta. For two years this city was pampered, to use a popular expression, with a superfluity of traction service, furnished partly by a local company and partly by a local company and partly by a local company.

The story of the Marietta bus line and its failure to succeed as a going concern followed immediately the death of the franchise for operating cars in the Marietta city streets held by the Monongahela West Penn Public Service company. The conclusion of the story indicates the futility of any concern attempting to operate even heavy busses for profit in a small city, even though that concern is burdened with no mortgage, overhead expense or responsibility.

Marietta's experience was remarkable in one respect, at least. During the experiment no animosity toward the experiment was shown by the citizens. (Turn to Page 6, Column 1.)

Two Little Girls Wait in Vain For Mother Murdered As She Went For Aid For Them

MOTHER KILLED IN HUNTING AID

By STEVE HANNAGAN
The News Special Writer
STATEN ISLAND, N. Y., April 4.—Two small girls play in silence in their modest home here, not knowing that their mother paid the price of life when she went for aid for them after their auto stalled on a lonely road.

They are Catherine, 6, and Helen, 3, daughters of Mrs. Walter Bauer, wife of a mechanical engineer, who was scratched, beaten and shot, then thrown from the automobile of an unknown man who had offered her a lift.

In another week the Bauers would have been installed in their new home on Long Island. Great plans and preparations had been made for their moving.

For seven years—since they were married—the Bauers had arranged their budget with next week—the time they were to move into their new home—in view.

Now it is ended. The happy family group was shattered in one minute by a fiend.

On the afternoon Mrs. Bauer was murdered she was taking her children and mother for a ride through the country in the family auto. The children were recovering from diphtheria under her careful administration.

In their nursery, amid their toys and dolls Catherine and Helen play. There is a strangled air in the household. They can't understand why all the people are there—and why their mother does not return.

Some day they will understand—then she will be to them a spirit, who died fighting for their honor.

Will Test Shell As Revetment Material

Preliminary steps to protect the canal bank through the city from erosion by wave action yesterday afternoon were taken by the revetment committee of the Chamber of Commerce and Shipping assisted by Government Engineer S. W. Clark and City Engineer J. O. Herpin.

The members of the committee planned to ask that the authorization of a large load of shell with which a preliminary experiment can be made, but the commission did not meet.

Success on Mississippi
Because of the success which is meeting the use of shell in levee work along the Mississippi river, because similar difficulty exists, because of the wave action, the committee meeting yesterday afternoon decided to try a preliminary experiment.

Character of the erosion by water, however, is different in the canal from the Mississippi river, this being due to the fact that the canal is narrow and propellers of passing ships exert a swirling suction against its sides, this followed by rollers after the vessel has passed.

Herpin's belief is that a gradual slope of six feet from a point extending back from the bank forward to a point two feet below mean low tide, covered to a depth of one foot with high grade shell would solve the erosion problem.

If the use of shell for revetment proves satisfactory the result will be a saving of some $50,000 over what it would cost to revet the canal bank with concrete reinforcement, it was said.

The idea of using shell to combat the eating away of the canal banks due to the action of water thrust from the ship's propellers was suggested by Col. Hoffman, divisional engineer of the United States war department engineers.

Recently while here on an inspection trip with Engineer Clark, resident U. S. engineer, Col. Hoffman suggested the use of the shell before the terms are made public.

GARBAGE CANS UNDER PROBE

Seek to Determine if Cost Excessive

Investigation into the price being paid for garbage cans by the city has been started by the commission.

The question, raised as a result of numerous complaints which reached Mayor J. E. Logan's office, asserting that cheaper cans are available, was brought up Thursday during the regular session of city commissioners, when the mayor called in Mr. Rosen, garbage can contractor, and C. W. Rode, garbage department superintendent, to determine the prices being paid and the condition of cans purchased.

Cheaper Cans Reported

"It has come to my attention that there is a man named McFarland who gets cans from the Texas Company, and who will sell them considerably cheaper than we have been able to get them in the past," Mayor Logan said in discussing the question.

"I have Mr. Warren out investigating this at this time, and if we find we can get garbage containers from anyone cheaper than we are now getting them, we will do so."

Superintendent Rode reported to the mayor that he had seen some of Mr. McFarland's cans.

Present Cost

"We pay $2.00 for the cans we are getting from Rosen," Mayor Logan said, "and sell them for $3.00 to the public. We don't make any profit on them at that, since by the time we have delivered them, we have used up the profit in defraying hauling charges."

It developed that Rosen secures his cans from the Texas and Gulf refining plants, goes over them with a wire brush and paints them. Tops are then made for the garbage cans, and they are sold to the city.

"I frequently reject as many as 19 or 20 cans out of an allotment of 40," Mr. Rode explained to the mayor.

The city recently purchased a number of smaller garbage cans, new, and still have over half the order yet unplaced. They are selling for $2.50.

Mayor Logan said that the citizens are not required to purchase the cans being sold by the city, that they are at liberty to buy garbage cans wherever they please, and that should the investigation of Mr. Warren reveal that cans can be bought cheaper from "someone besides the present place, we shall do so. We are not under contract to buy garbage cans from anyone."

REVETMENT

cause of the success which has attended its use along the levees of the Mississippi.

In the use of shell, however, it was brought out by John Glasgow, one of the commission members, that the shell which is purchased for this work must be shell and not "one shell to a shovel of dirt."

Estimates of Cost Given

City Engineer J. O. Herpin yesterday told the committee that it would cost the city in the neighborhood of $12 a lineal foot torevet the canal bank in a manner similar to that employed by the government engineers in front of their office across the canal near the Pleasure Pier. This work cost the government slightly over $6 a foot, the smaller cost being due to practical elimination of the labor cost item.

It was estimated by City Engineer Herpin that the shell revetment might be constructed at a cost of about half that of the concrete.

In connection with construction of the revetment by the city, Herpin told members of the committee he planned to ask for three things in the budget for his department for the next year. First of these would be for sufficient money to bring the levee system of Port Arthur up to an average height of nine feet. The next would be to repair the bulkhead at DeQueen boulevard and the canal and near the Texas filling station. Hand closed flood gates would take the place of the automatic gates now in use on sewer lines entering the canal, which seldom work, Herpin stated.

Those attending yesterday afternoon's meeting were Henry Lohmann, J. O. Herpin, Howard Smith, S. W. Clark, J. Glasgow, J. B. Saint, and George M. Craig, chairman. This committee will meet Saturday afternoon for an inspection trip of the levees to the north of town. This trip will be made on foot.

Pending another meeting of this committee no recommendation was made to the budget plans of the city engineer, the committee having scheduled another meeting before this will be done.

It took the United States 41 years and four months to produce its first billion barrels of petroleum.

$10,000 SUIT GOES ON TRIAL

Interesting Angles in Eviction Contest

Special to The News.

BEAUMONT, Texas, April 4.—Hearing in a non-jury $10,000 damage suit was started in 58th district court Friday morning before Judge George C. O'Brien.

The case was brought by a negro woman against Tony Tortoris for eviction from her home. According to the petition, she had left her furniture in the house and had gone to visit some relatives. During her absence, Tortoris who owned the house is alleged to have taken her furniture out and stored it. She owed $34 rent and he asked for $100 storage.

The woman alleged that the eviction had not been by lawful order and asked for damages.

An interesting feature of the case is the fact that none of the original justice court papers are to be found, which makes hearing of the case difficult.

SCURLOCK NOT TO SIGN OUSTER

Attorney Seeks Ruling From Attorney General

Special to The News.

BEAUMONT, Texas, April 4.—County Attorney Marvin Scurlock will not sign the petition for removal from office of L. F. Baker, Port Arthur constable, on a charge of misconduct in office.

Following the shooting of Lovell Wilson in Port Arthur, a grand jury indictment charging murder was returned against Baker.

Refuses to Sign

A petition was brought to County Attorney Marvin Scurlock by Attorney Alfred DuPerier representing persons in Port Arthur who wanted Baker removed from office. Scurlock refused to sign the petition, stating that it was a matter for the courts to decide. He further declared that he did not believe there was any way he could be forced to sign it.

Attorney DuPerier stated this morning that after Scurlock had refused to sign the petition he had gone to Austin for a conference with Attorney General Keeling, but admitted that he had received "little satisfaction" from the attorney general and that Keeling had stated in such cases that the state could not interfere. He also stated that in cases where officers were to be removed from the office the attorney general had to join in the case.

Plot Goes With Him

DuPerier was accompanied to Austin by C. H. Platt. When a petition for removal of Chief of Police Covington was filed several weeks ago, Platt's name was mentioned as a possible candidate for the office. DuPerier stated, however, that there was no significance in the fact that Platt went with him and that he was only in Austin on "personal business."

SEVEN STOLEN CARS FOUND IN LOUISIANA

Beaumont, Texas, April 4.—The United States department of justice recovered seven stolen cars in DeRidder, La., last week, which have been brought to Beaumont.

The cars were stolen for a period of several months back. All were in good condition. One man who had his automobile stolen was especially lucky. When his car was stolen it needed a coat of paint.

The thieves who were preparing to sell it gave it a coat of paint, and when it was brought back to Beaumont it was equipped with bumpers and curtains and was worth a great deal more than when it was stolen.

HE GETS TO WHIP COLLECTOR FREE

BEAUMONT, Texas, April 4.—Judge Thomas Brown declined in justice court here this morning that a bill collector who annoyed a man's mother might be given a thrashing without having to pay a fine.

A man appeared in court and stated that he owed a bill, but that a collector had bothered his mother, who had nothing to do with the account. He told him to leave her alone and when he refused, he assaulted the man. The case against him was dismissed.

Thrift

Thrift means economy in everything. The secret of thrift is to live simply, buy only what we need and take care of what we have. The people who succeed in life are the economical people. One should begin early in life to learn to save energy, health, time and money. Children should practice economy while they are young by learning all they can by obeying promptly, by saving food and taking care of their clothing.

We can be good Americans by being thrifty. A good American beautifies his home, helps build up his town and becomes independent, because he buys wisely and does away with waste. If every individual were thrifty this nation would be a prosperous one for our nation is what our citizens make it.

The reasons for saving are, so that we can be independent when we get old, invest our money for advantages, for a better education, trips and sports. Banks help by paying us interest on our deposits. They keep our money safe for us and lend us money when we are thrifty citizens.

FILM SHOWS HOW

CONVICTS ESCAPE

How crookdom so often manages to free a member who has been caught in the meshes of the law is shown in "Love's Whirlpool," which is at the Peoples Theatre now.

When Larry is imprisoned for stealing, his elder brother, Jim Keagan, a master crook, plots with "Pinkey" Sellers, an underworld spy, and "Parson" Monks, an ex-convict, to effect Larry's escape. Jim's first step is to write a seemingly innocent note, but the instructions for the escape are traced in ink, while the latter is so folded that the last line written in ink: "Search with matches," is noticeable. Larry discovers the note and is aided in his escape by four convicts who evade the espionage of the guard and bury the boy. He thrusts a reed through the crust of dust in order that he may breathe and the searching guards fail to find him.

Larry is shot, but it is not through lack of wit or co-operation of crookdom that the plot fails in this instance. It is merely because Larry emerges too soon.

"Love's Whirlpool" presents a clear picture of the underworld—its romance and terrors, loves and hates. James Kirkwood, Lila Lee and Madge Bellamy have the principal parts. The supporting cast includes Matthew Betz, Margaret Livingston, Clarence Geldert and Joe Mills.

STORY OF DIVORCE

COMING TO LIBERTY

"Let Not Man Put Asunder," dramatization featuring Lou Tellegen and Pauline Frederick and dealing with the absorbing question of divorce, is coming to the Liberty Theatre Monday for a four days' engagement. Briefly, the story of the picture is this:

Petrina Faneuil and Harry Vassall, both wealthy and prominent socially, marry. Dick Lechmere, their friend, has his misgivings. He had married to effect Larry's escape. Jim's first only to be divorced after she had returned to the stage and a doubtful life. Vassall's sister, Emma, has been married several years to Mr. Humphrey De Boucha and lives in London.

Later the Vassalls are in London on their honeymoon. Mr. Humphrey and his wife are not getting along, or the wife has taken up questionable associates, including Felicia. Against the wishes of her husband, Petrina also takes up with Felicia. Lady Emma divorces Sir Humphrey and returns to Boston. The Vassalls continue to disagree, even after their return to Boston, and finally come a separation, which two years later ends in divorce. Meantime Sir Humphrey has engaged himself to Gentian Tyrell, but delays marriage which is opposed by his daughter. After her own divorce Petrina brings Sir Humphrey and Lady Emma together and they marry. Petrina and Dick Lechmere, lonesome, but not in love, marry.

Felicia, broken in health and penniless, goes to Boston seeking her former husband. She comes to Lechmere's home in a storm. Then she reaches home before his former wife dies, and they are reunited. Later Lechmere kills himself and Harry Vassall returns to Petrina and they will marry.

BEAUMONT CASE IS UP TO STATE

Gunter Finds Customs Rules Not Broken

Prosecution of the steward of the Spanish ship Mar Blanco, arrested in connection with the seizure of a large quantity of liquor by federal and state officers will rest with the state.

This announcement was made here today following an investigation of the case by A. A. Gunter, assistant collector of customs for the Sabine District.

Under the customs laws, no violation is charged against the steward of the ship, but the state and federal laws authorize the seizure of intoxicating liquor whenever it is found to be for sale.

The two men arrested when the car in which they were riding was seized with two crates of cognac will be granted preliminary hearings in Beaumont today it was believed.

The customs angle of the case was investigated by Gunter who ascertained the liquor seized had been listed as medicinal liquor when the ship touched at New York, the first port of entry in this country. Later visits were made along the coast of the Atlantic seaboard and Galveston, the ship going from there to Beaumont.

According to Gunter, the steward of the ship was identified by one of the men in the car seized by officers as the seaman who sold the liquor.

Reception Honors New Port Arthur Pastor And Wife Thursday Evening

THE Department Club was the scene of a most attractive affair last evening when Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Weidner were tendered an enjoyable reception by members of the Congregational church. Rev. Weidner recently arrived in Port Arthur from Newell, Iowa, to accept the pastorate of the First Congregational church.

In delightful contrast to the disagreeable weather outside was the cheerful glow of the fire in the fireplace and the coziness of the interior of the lovely club home. Green foliage bunched near the fireplace and at vantage points about the large assembly room formed a charming background for the tall floor baskets filled with beautiful wisteria and bridal wreath and the masses of gorgeous red roses, clustered in vases about the room.

Greeting the guests at the door were Mrs. W. J. Steck, Mrs. J. H. Burlington, Mrs. F. E. Gifford and Mrs. Charles E. Houg.

An entertaining program arranged by Mrs. Fred P. Dodge, was enjoyed during the evening, with Mrs. J. C. Reynolds, president of the Ladies Aid, presiding as mistress of ceremonies.

The short address of welcome was given to Rev. Weidner by Rev. C. W. Culp, president of the Ministerial Alliance, and Rev. Weidner responded with a few words.

A beautiful piano selection was rendered by Mrs. Overton Able, and Miss Marie LeMaster, a talented singer, gave two delightful readings. Mrs. C. W. Van Corderland of San Francisco, the guest of her mother, Mrs. J. H. Baxter, delighted the guests with a lovely vocal number, following which Miss Esther Crampton gave a reading. Mrs. H. L. Drake's charming solo was graciously received by the guests and the number given by Mrs. Drake and Mrs. Dodge was enthusiastically applauded.

Dainty refreshments of punch and wafers were served during the evening, with Mrs. S. E. Schminck and Mrs. E. M. Friedl presiding at the punch bowl.

Over one hundred guests enjoyed the delightful reception.

BOOTBLACK OBTAINS SIGNATURE OF NEFF

AUSTIN, Texas, April 4.—A. V. Vuillmot, millionaire boot-black, passed through here today on his way around the world. He stopped here to secure the signature of Governor Pat M. Neff, which is one of the requirements of a wager he made in Washington last year before starting his trip around the globe. Starting out last June without a penny he has visited the capital of every state in the union except New Mexico, Arizona and California, and secured the signature of the governor of each state. In addition to these names he secured the name of the late President Warren G. Harding and President Alvaro Obregon of the republic of Mexico.

The Tangle

LETTERS FROM SADNEY CARTON TO JOHN ALDEN PRES-COTT

As usual, old man, you have fallen on your feet. You have all the luck in the world. No other man on earth that I know of could have told his wife what you have told Leslie and still keep her divine love, for it is divine love.

Of course I understand that you have been perfectly true to Leslie since you married her, but one swallow does not make a summer, and if I were a woman, Jack, I would not trust you out of my sight. Not that I think you are a bad boy but just irresponsible.

To tell the truth, I do not like that very minute description that you are giving of that Mrs. Atherton who works in your office. When a woman, Jack, piques a man's curiosity continually, the story is told.

You know that a man is so constituted he can love a woman devotedly—or at least think he can love her devotedly—and be untrue to her every week.

I have always found that with you, curiosity is a greater temptation than passion and I don't like your description of that girl. Get rid of her. I don't believe that you can hurt Leslie again as you have just hurt her and still keep her as your wife.

You seem to think that, now you have told Leslie that I am not the father of the boy, that I can come over there. I can't do it, Jack. I would be perfectly ill at ease and it would embarrass me more to know that Leslie knew that I knew the whole story than it did when I thought she thought I was little Jack's father.

By the way, I picked up, in Los Angeles, a lovely old piece of coral carved into the shape of a god which is supposed to bring good luck.

I'm mailing it today in a registered package to you and, if you like, I would like you to give it to Leslie. It will make a very pretty pendant with some ribbon through it. I noticed that all the women were wearing things of that kind out in the western cities.

Now I suppose that as you have made a clean breast of things you expect to live happy ever after. You say that Leslie has forgiven you, do from now on will help things at all, although there are a great many things that you can do that will make things worse. So mind your step, Jack, mind your step.

You see, Leslie, like most girls when they marry, thought she was your first love and she has with her, all the time, indisputable proof that she was not.

I know I am an old kill-joy, but I can't help it, Jack. Sincerely yours, STD. TOMORROW. Letter from Walker Burke to Ruth Ellington.

Albert Perkins Replies To Charges of Fuller In Fish Yarn Contest

Fishing is for sports, not commercial artists nor would be destructive to public, declared Albert Perkins in an article responding to Lynn Fuller's version of that "79-cent trophy."

And that trophy may or may not have cost 79 cents for all the light Albert throws on that phase of his fishing yarn, but listen to the other things Albert talks about:

Critics, Always Critics
"There has never in history been any great movement or adventure started, whether civic, social or financial, henceforth sprang a bunch of critics, advisers, accusers or otherwise, who never accomplished anything unselfish in their lives. Now this article is written in rebuttal to several articles which have appeared recently in The News, and therefore will confine the argument to the subject therein, which is fishing and incidentally sportsmanship."

"In the first place, with but one exception, I haven't read an article yet from anyone but what spends more of their time digging worms than they do fishing, therefore can never be a very great detriment to the sporting world. The one exception I have reference to, has to do with one Lynn Fuller, who appears rather an inventive genius and one whom the sporting world must look upon with much concern and disfavor. He claims to have been a life long friend of mine, a fact which I am sorry indeed he published, and one which has ceased to be a fact now. However, since he has mentioned me so generously in a public way, it behooves me in defense of good sportsmanship, to analyze to the public Mr. Fuller's real motives for all of this destructive propaganda."

This Sounds Fishy
"In the first place, what is Mr. Fuller's vocation? Restaurant. What constitutes a large portion of his menu? Fish. What means has he for obtaining his supply? He has to buy them. Now, this last answer is the one which has started Mr. Fuller's great, undeveloped, inventive mind to working. He performs a feat by picturing in his square head a round umbrella, with such patented attachments by which he might attract every fish in a stream to it, under which he would be sitting with a dip net, casually dipping the fish into a truck. But along comes the Fishing club and busts up his playhouse with their widely circulated propaganda for clean sportsmanship, and now, with his heels in the air, and in one last effort to break down the morale of the club, he comes out with an utterly false and diluted affidavit. He makes one great mistake in his affidavit which renders it entirely useless as evidence, in that the party who took the acknowledgment, like himself, could not possibly be held by the courts of our country, as a sane and sound American citizen, which qualification, is absolutely necessary in a case of this kind."

"Again, the little old crude piece of metal Mr. Fuller speaks of might not have cost even 79 cents, but there are plenty of good sportsmen in Port Arthur who would spend $100 or more to win it for they know when they do, they are elevated to a class of clean sportsmen and not rated with a bunch of 'pot shooters' and 'fish trappers' like some of the subjects herein mentioned."

"Furthermore, Mr. Fuller is sore on the club due to the fact that the rules and regulations were made so binding until he could not enter due to the fact that a $1 membership was charged, which qualification will bar him forever."

"No Mr. Fuller, good is here to

How to build up your Weight

TO be under weight often proves low fighting power in the body. It often means you are minus nerve-power, minus red-cells in your blood, minus health, minus vitality. It is serious to be minus, but the moment you increase the number of your red-blood-cells, you begin to become plus. That's why S. S. S., since 1826, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women, a plus in their strength. Your body fills to the point of power, your flesh becomes firm, the age lines that come from thinness disappear. You look younger, firmer, happier, and you feel it, too, all over your body. More red-blood-cells! S. S. S. will build them.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Manager Giles Painfully Hurt On Eve of Team's Departure

Saints Leave On Noon Interurban Bound for Home

BY BILL ARCHER

WITH the right side of his head, his nose and back swathed in bandages, Warren C. Giles, business manager, was assisted to a north-bound interurban today at 12 o'clock, accompanying his St. Joseph Saints of the Western League homeward for their opening game.

Giles sustained severe lacerations about the face and head late yesterday afternoon when a taxicab in which he was making his last trip of inspection to the ball park skidded into a street car at the intersection of Seventh street and Houston avenue. His back was painfully wrenched from the impact. Jimmy Gardner, driver of the taxi, also sustained cuts and bruises about the face.

Last night, the baseball official lay on his back, unable to move without caution, while a nurse guarded the entrance to his room. A placard on his door announced to the inquisitive that "no visitors were allowed by order of attending physicians."

Saw Accident Coming

"I just remember that we seemed to be going at a pretty fair clip," Giles told newspapermen following the accident. "Then the car skidded."

I think the driver forgot we were going to the ball park, and just recalled it as we reached the intersection of the streets. That's all I remembered until I woke up here."

The business manager was unconscious until he had received medical attention, it was said.

The right side of his head was scraped and bruised when the taxi collided with the street car. Giles' face smacked through the windowed partition dividing the driver's seat from the passenger's compartment of the taxi. A gash was cut in the corner of his left eye, and his nose cut.

Injury of the manager on the eve of his last day in Port Arthur placed two of the St. Joe organization on the blink, Nick DeLaggo, star outfielder purchased from the Texas League at the inception of the present season having been confined to his bed for a week suffering from an attack of pneumonia poisoning. Nick, however, "dressed to join the team" upon its departure from the city today noon.

Schedule of the team calls for departure from Beaumont this afternoon at 2 o'clock for Dallas, where a pair of exhibition games will be staged Saturday and Sunday, a game following that in Wichita Falls, and thence northward to St. Joe.

Blue slip day brought in but few changes in the line bunched here.

Nemo Herrera was given an option of going to Monroe, La., Hopkins sent to Corsicana, Gassaway given an unconditional release. Practically all the pitchers brought here for trials were carried north with the club when they departed today.

"Good-by and good luck," was the key-note of expressions of the departing athletes as they packed their luggage together and sought their north bound rattler. "We hope we shall come back to Port Arthur, because we have enjoyed our training here very much."

The club expressed considerable praise for the local Elks club, making known their gratitude for the "many courtesies and the liberal use of the club rooms extended us while in the city." During their stay here, the Elks club was the rendezvous of the Saints, many of whom were members of the B. P. O. E.

They were tendered a farewell banquet in Newport Cafe last night, being honored by management of the cafe.

NEW TEAM TO TRAIN TODAY

Undergo Practice Hours On Cosmopolitan Field

Blocked in their efforts to get their initial training on Cosmopolitan Park yesterday afternoon, prospective members of the Port Arthur Athletic Club baseball team welcomed the advent of a warm sun this morning, and laid plans for first practice work at the park this afternoon. It is the plan of the club management, it is understood, to put the best time possible in at practicing and conditioning for a series of games being scheduled at the present time.

The new team, according to announced plans, contemplates regular practice periods starting at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. The baseball park will be used for the workouts.

Any player in the city desiring to make the team, management asserted last night, are welcome to participate in the workouts.

BY JOE WILLIAMS

Being somewhat of a one-man ball club, it inevitably follows that as Rogers Hornsby goes so go the Cardinals.

The thing to do, then, when you visit the camp of the St. Louis Nationals is to watch Mr. Hornsby, the gifted right-hand hitter who again led his league last season with 384.

It is especially the thing to do this spring, since Mr. Hornsby and his manager, Branch Rickey, do little more than smile superficially as they exchange the greetings of the day.

Mr. Hornsby has not forgotten that Rickey soaked him on the whiskers in the clubhouse late last season following a sulphuric dialogue in the course of which Mr. Hornsby intimated that if Rickey could manage a ball club he, Mr. Hornsby, could make a watch with four-brake attachment and balloon tires.

It was later disclosed in the public prints that the two had shaken hands over a banana split and agreed to let bygones be bygones. For once this was not a lot of apple sauce.

Hornsby for Hornsby

It so happens that Mr. Hornsby is a regular guy, and while he unquestionably would welcome a deal which would carry him elsewhere, preferably to New York, where, as he says, "McGraw would make a regular second baseman out of him," he has no intentions of laying down on the job in St. Louis.

Rickey will get just as much out of Hornsby this year as he ever did, possibly more. Indeed, Hornsby may be more inclined to play for Hornsby this year than for the Cardinals. And if so, he may surpass all his previous accomplishments.

Indirectly, of course, the Cardinals would profit thereby. You can prattle all you want to about a "team player," but a man who is out there hitting .400 isn't exactly a handi-cap.

Hornsby is one of the most remarkable right-hand hitters of all time. This spring he seems already to be hitting in mid-season stride. Brooklyn has one of the best pitching staffs in the old league but Uncle Robbie's pitchers were unable to get Hornsby out in an exhibition game here.

Later, at Sarasota, John McGraw sent his first-string pitchers against the Cardinals and Mr. Hornsby tore them to shreds with a devastating bat fire.

Cards' Weak Spot

Rickey hasn't nothing to worry about his headliner. It's his catching staff and the right side of his infield that should demand his concern. With Eddie Ainsmith gone Rickey probably has the worst catching staff in the league. At present Tubby Clemens is rated as his first-string catcher. Tubby is merely a good democrat who writes to the home folks regularly.

Rickey is using Bell, a Houston rookie, at third in place of the veteran Stock who is a holdout, and Freigau, an Ohio collegian who was with the team last year, at short. Old Doc Lavan is the reserve. Whether Bell and Freigau will measure up remains to be seen.

The outfield is unchanged, likewise the pitching staff, with the exception of Sothorn, who was pulled back from Louisville, presumably to show the boys how to wear an Ascot scarf correctly.

Dancing An Olympic Sport?

By MINOTT SAUNDERS

PARIS, April 4.—At last there looms a chance for the "cake eaters" to do something for their country. A movement has been started here to put dancing on the program of the Olympic Games. If it goes through the dear boys of Broadway can come tripping over and cloud the fame of Pat Ryan and Ted Meredith as point winners for their flag—am.

And why not, asks La Liberté. "Why ban, in a manifestation designed to present men of the greatest speed, greatest agility and most vigor, the virtuoso of movement that is found in dancing. Is it because the movement of elegance and charm is not dancing?"

It is pointed out that the ancient Greeks, who first started the games, greatly stressed the harmony of gesture in their athletic contests. The writer insists that dancing is a sport, since grace and endurance are required.

A canvass of popular artists and writers indicates a preponderance of opinion in favor of dancing as an entry on the games' program.

One advantage of including dancing is the fact that it would keep the games running for 24 hours, or nearly so. The white-collared competitors could not be expected to take the floor before 4 o'clock in the afternoon, but they could keep the cheering going until dawn.

Victor Marguerite, author of "La Garconne," is strong for the dance as a sport. He says: "The modern dancer has become a veritable exercise and a sport demanding great training. With both hands I applaud your initiative."

Miss Regina Camier, actress, thinks the dance merits a prominent place on the Olympics program. "If the dance is a difficult and charming art, it is also a sport, and many mothers have come to understand that their children practice it as a sport."

"The dance will complete in grace and harmony the program of the games," says Henri Duvernois, writer. "The dance, actress, says it is not only a sport, but the one sport that permits a woman to remain exclusively feminine."

Max Dearly, comedian, and Darius Milhaud, composer, favor an Olympic dancing contest, but insist that it must be classical dancing. M. de Harcourt, moving picture producer, sure dancing was an Olympic attraction with the Greeks, and therefore no Olympic can be complete without it.

Clement Vautel, writer, says: "If this proposal refers to the dance before the buffet there need be no alarm—it will be on the program." But Count Clary, head of the French Olympic committee, so far refuses to get late step.

BREAST STROKE RECORD CHANGE

Skelton, Illinois A. C., Sets Up Fast Time

CHICAGO, April 4.—A new record for the 200-yard breast stroke pool event stands today as the result of Robert Skelton's performance at the National A. A. U. men's senior indoor swimming meet here last night.

Skelton of the Illinois Athletic club established a record of 2:35.3. The shattered record, made by Toldi of Austria in 1911, was 2:39.5.

Miss Sybil Bauer also of the I. A. C. broke her world's records for the 50 and 100 yard back stroke.

The I. A. C. won the 200 yard relay and set up a new national record of 1:38.4.5. The former record also an I. A. C. accomplishment, was 1:39.1.5. The Olympic team of San Francisco gave the I. A. C. squad some strong competition.

Final events in the tourney are to be staged tonight.

LOOKOUTS GET RING FROM ATLANTA CLUB

ATLANTA, April 4.—Johnny Ring, utility player of the Crackers, has been claimed by the Chattanooga club at the waiver price. Jack Corbett, president of the Crackers, has announced.

Ring did not report to the Crackers for spring training, and so far as the club officials know, is at his home in Massachusetts. It is not known whether he will report to the Chattanooga club, as he has given no reason for his failure to report to Manager Niehoff, at Griffin. Ring was one of the most popular players on the team last year and played both infield and outfield positions.

DENISON'S GUN CLUB TO SHOOT ON SUNDAY

DENISON, Texas, April 4.—The first registered shoot of the new season will be held Sunday, April 5, by the Denison Gun club, which has selected all old officers. Last year this club ran up many large scores, which were published in sporting magazines throughout the country. The shoot will be held at the Munson park grounds, where all equipment has been thoroughly renovated.

McFadden Heads Tarpon Fish Club

Sam McFadden of the Eastern Texas Electric company heads the Tarpon Club of Port Arthur this season. And it's time to start priming up your fishing material, says Sam. McAfee was elected secretary-treasurer.

The directorate chosen includes Andrus, G. M. Craig, C. F. Dickey, F. P. Dodge, Farwell, E. D. Jackson, W. J. Leitch, McFadden, McAfee, M. W. McMasars, E. W. Rayburn, C. R. Stevenson, John W. Tryon, E. W. Vaughan, and C. W. Youngblood.

Arrangements are under way at the present time seeking to conclude negotiations for transportation from Port Arthur to Tarponia, stationed just off the jetties.

Mr. Hornsby has not forgotten that Rickey soaked him on the whiskers in the clubhouse late last season following a sulphuric dialogue in the course of which Mr. Hornsby intimated that if Rickey could manage a ball club he, Mr. Hornsby, could make a watch with four-brake attachment and balloon tires.

CYCLONE HITS DALLAS COUNTY

One Dead, 13 Injured From Twister

DALLAS, April 3.—One is dead, thirteen are injured and hundreds homeless today following a cyclone which swept towns and farms in the vicinity of Dallas.

Farm Houses Wrecked
A trail of wrecked farm houses was left in the path of the storm, which struck suddenly at Richardson late yesterday evening, on to Garland, Lawler, Henner, Elmo and other villages.

School Demolished
The school house at Lawler was demolished. Farm homes in that section were wrecked.

Some of the injured were being cared for today in Dallas hospitals. When word of the storm reached here last night, a number of ambulances made hurried trips to the storm areas and picked up the injured.

Relief parties with food clothing and funds went to the stricken sections today. Mayor Daylock of Dallas wired that local officials were prepared to render any aid needed.

ROUND WORLD IN BUT 12 DAYS

LONDON, April 3.—World-wide aerial routes, with regular passenger service to and from Europe, North and South America and the Near and Far East, are being formulated here.

The plans include luxurious sleeping cars, aerial services from Europe to Japan—four days from London to Tokyo, via Berlin, Vienna, Moscow, London and Paris to Canton, Hongkong and India, from London to Paris to Rio de Janeiro and Buenos Aires and from London and Paris to New York.

A twelve-day tour around the world will ultimately be possible, the promoters of some of these projects declare.

The world-wide services are still in the paper stage, but the companies are already being organized, the stock being subscribed for, and level-headed business men as well as professional air experts are preparing with perfect earnestness to consummate as an every day commercial proposition plans that in the past, being seem fantastic and unattainable.

Promoters of the companies point out that Europe is now dotted with aerial routes, linking all the capitals, and that only a few years ago this would have seemed a thing beyond attainment; that not many years hence world-wide service will be taken for granted, just as casually as the all-European routes are today.

Both in England and in France separate world-wide companies are being planned. The British are working especially on the South American line and a London company is planning the Tokyo, via Berlin and Moscow line.

ARRESTS HERE IN MARCH TOTAL 228, REPORT
During March, 228 arrests were made by the city police department, of which nine were transferred to the county officials, 14 to federal authorities and 12 to probation officers.

A total of $2,213.10 was collected by the police department during the month, the report made to the city commission today shows.

Governor on Trial

The remains of Gen. Elbert, colonial hero and military leader of Georgia, following the discovery of the bones at Hen's hall, near Savannah, about two years ago, now rest in Colonial cemetery—all except his head.

Because of the tourist's interest in the head, Chapin gave it to him. Before General Elbert's remains were discovered Chapin died, as did his wife. Consequently, it has been impossible to learn the identity of the northerner who holds the head of General Elbert.

Prepares Answer Senator Pepper's Spoh

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Former Attorney General Daugherty will refuse to be in the line of a party and by a statement of the tenor of a carefully prepared statement, which Daugherty intends giving out later, in reply to Senator George Pepper's reference to Daugherty in his Portland, Maine, "Key-note" speech.

Pepper's announcement of Daugherty was a grave error in judgment. Instantly Daugherty shot out a statement in which he said:

"I do not propose to be made an issue in the coming campaign except for the benefit of the republican party as a beneficiary of my administration of the public business in the department of justice."

This brief report to Pepper is but an indication of the tenor of a carefully prepared statement, which Daugherty intends giving out later, in reply to Senator George

COLONIAL HERO MINUS HIS HEAD

Tourist Took It North As Indian Curio

SAVANNAH, Ga., April 4.—The remains of Brig. Gen. Samuel Elbert, colonial hero and military leader of Georgia, following the discovery of the bones at Hen's hall, near Savannah, about two years ago, now rest in Colonial cemetery—all except his head.

The re-interment of Gen. Elbert's bones, together with the remains of his wife, whose bones were also found in the grave discovered by Big Gen. R. J. Travis, has an interesting untold story in connection with the whereabouts of that distinguished patriot's head.

About five years ago, drainage work took laborers to the vicinity where Gen. Elbert's grave was later discovered. While the workmen were digging out Pipemaker's canal, a skeleton head rolled out of the earth.

W. F. Chapin, superintendent of city public works, took the head to the court house here, and for some time it was on display. Months later, a northern tourist, making a southern tour for Indian relics, visited Savannah. He was a friend of Chapin, and the head greatly interested him. It was generally believed that the head was that of an Indian.

Because of the tourist's interest in the head, Chapin gave it to him. Before General Elbert's remains were discovered Chapin died, as did his wife. Consequently, it has been impossible to learn the identity of the northerner who holds the head of General Elbert.

Here's What to Eat and—## Loss Weight Gain Weight

One-half cup stewed rhubarb, 1 thin, crisp piece bacon, 1 baked bean sandwich, 5 ounces rare lean roast beef, 2 baked onions, pineapple salad, 4 tablespoons dandelion greens, 2 strips dill pickle, 1 toasted bran muffin, 1 gluten roll, 1 pint skimmed milk.

Total calories, 1234. Protein, 250; fat 478; carbohydrate, 500. Iron, .158 gram.

It is desirable, the amount of roast beef can be reduced one or two ounces. This will reduce the number of protein and fat calories.

The onions should be baked in their husks, and seasoned with salt and pepper, but no butter.

The dill pickle has practically no food value and is suggested merely to give a piquant touch to the baked bean sandwich.

As the different varieties of greens come into market they should be used freely. Cook them in boiling salted water and season with lemon juice or vinegar for the reducing diet.

Whenever possible use lemon juice for seasoning in place of vinegar. The fresh fruit juice is more wholesome than vinegar.

The pineapple salad is made of a slice of canned pineapple on heart of lettuce with a sprinkling of cottage cheese crumbs.

One-half cup stewed rhubarb, 2 pieces bacon, 4 corn meal pancakes, 1 cup cream of tomato soup with 2 tablespoons whipped cream, 2 baked bean and rye sandwiches, 1 cup cream of asparagus soup, 3 ounces rare roast beef, 2 medium-sized potatoes baked with meat, 4 tablespoons brown gravy, 4 tablespoons creamed onions, 4 tablespoons dandelion greens with hot tartar sauce, pineapple salad, 4 tablespoons butter, 2 toasted bran muffins, 2 pieces whole wheat bread, 4 tablespoons maple syrup, 1-6 Washington cream pie, 1 blushing apple rolled in chopped nuts and masked with whipped cream, 1 pint whole milk.

Total calories, 4308. Protein, 561; fat, 1921; carbohydrate, 1884. Iron, .0195 gram.

The average serving of roast meats weighs about three ounces.

This pineapple salad is made with Neufchatel cheese instead of cottage cheese crumbs. Nuts are added and a rich whipped cream dressing masks the pineapple and cheese.

The hot tartar sauce suggested for the greens can be substituted by the old-fashioned Dutch dressing, made with bacon fat, egg and lemon juice or vinegar. After the greens are drained, they can be simmered slowly in fat from ham or bacon and served with hard boiled egg and lemon juice.

SHOULD LABEL LIZARD EGGS

That's Demand of Mens in Great Britain

LONDON, April 4.—No British gentleman, or lady either, should have to eat lizard eggs in ignorance.

If one chooses lizard eggs for breakfast, that is all well and good—but one should have a fair chance of knowing the family tree of one's eggs.

That's the big idea in the "Merchandise Marks bill" pending in the commons. It would require eggs and other imported foodstuffs to carry labels showing the country of origin.

During debate on the bill, assertions were made that quantities of lizard eggs were imported to England from China and sold and eaten as hens' eggs.

A proponent of the bill presented a pitiful picture of "one poor, little Yorkshire lion, struggling day after day to compete with a hard thousands of miles away in China."

The bill was passed to a second reading, the little brown hen in Yorkshire clashed successfully in the little red rooster, and lizard-egg stock began to eat.

Mah Jongg Addicts Must Pay New Tax

WASHINGTON, April 4.—Radio fans and mah jongg addicts will have to pay something for the privilege.

Senate taxmakers have cut taxes on automobiles and candy, and put 10 per cent levies on radio and mah jongg sets.

All radio sets costing $15 or more—which means most of those that are sold—will bear the annual per cent tax under the provision inserted by the senate finance committee. All mah jongg sets worth $5 or more must pay ten per cent.

Doheny Stows Away Or Military Expedition; Discovers "Lynch Law"

This is the fifth chapter of "How I Made My Millions," E. L. Doheny's own story. It is of peculiar interest because of Doheny's position in the oil investigations. In previous chapters Doheny tells how he came west and joined the Wheeler expedition to the southwest. (Copyright, 1934, NEA Service, Inc.)

By E. L. DOHENY

On the Wheeler Expedition I got the training which made my later prospecting possible. Oregon Jack, an experienced packer, taught me the "diamond hitch"—a knack of packing an animal properly. I later devised the "muzzle-loading diamond hitch"—a one-man packing stunt.

We found some mineral on the trip. But it wasn't my chief interest yet. After three months I returned to Leavenworth—flat broke. But the call of the southwest had got me. When I heard that another expedition was going into the Indian Territory, I sneaked into the camp, sidled alongside a soldier, who threw his blanket over me, and became a sort of stow-away; for this expedition was primarily military.

We went to Wichita, at the headquarters of its wild days. There Wyatt Earp, who later refuted the Sharkey-Fitzsimmons fight, was head of a mounted police force. He had his hands full. The memories of my month there haven't faded with the 30 years that have gone by.

I drifted on southwestward. With Charles Du Boise I went on a survey into Indian Territory, covering from the 98-100 meridian as far south as Red River. We traveled many hundreds of miles on foot. We crossed the "Cow Skull" River, so named because of the thousands of cattle that were drowned in it. State Creek; we went past Wellington, through the "Wood of the Ate."

Near Fall Creek we found a man strung from a tree. We shot at the rope and brought the man down. Then we were almost lynched ourselves, for interfering with "the law."

The dead man was only a youngster—yet he was a "killer." Later I found that most of the bad men, murderers and others, were 20 or under.

Another place we found the bodies of four frontiers who had just been burned at stake. One of the men was at Hennessy, at the place of whose death now stands a town that bears his name.

For a time I acted as extra man to some of the survivors. I often had to go on foot to Fort Sill on their errands.

Varied experiences came rapidly. Some Indians taught me how to trap. Then with Kaka, Alaska, one of their number, I went trapping for three years. I used to run horse races with the Indians. The hoof mark received in one of these contests is imprinted on the side of my head—to go with me to my grave.

A visit to southern Texas; back to Wichita on a drive, a few more bits of adventure—

And then my first real attempt to make money.

(In his next chapter Doheny tells how he staked his first claims and made his first "real money.")

BABE INSURANCE IS COMPULSORY

Swiss Insure Against Sicknesses

GENEVA, April 3.—The Swiss Canton of Vaud, of which Lausanne is the capital, has just completed an important experiment of compulsory child sickness insurance.

The success of the system to date has been such as not only to insure its permanent adoption in the Canton, but its extension to other Cantons of the confederation.

Under the system adopted compulsory sickness insurance is obligatory on all children, regardless of nationality attending the primary schools of the Canton.

The insurance is carried out through the medium of a Cantonal Children's Sick Fund, which is worked and controlled under the guarantee of the State and the funds distributed amongst the various municipalities of the Canton.

The benefits include payment for medical attention and drugs in cases of illness and accident during 300 days out of a period of 540 consecutive days.

The extent to which such attendance is necessary amongst school children is indicated by the statistics of the past year, which showed that amongst 70,000 school children 35,773 cases of illness were notified and treated.

The conclusions of the school physicians for the past year are that this compulsory child sickness insurance constitutes one of the state's best weapons for fighting tuberculosis.
